

Waste Management Audit

An audit providing key information about health and safety issues arising from waste management practices, and confirming statutory compliance.

The Regulations

The Environmental Protection Act (EPA) 1990 controls many aspects of how the environment is protected and regulated in everyday life.

In relation to waste, the Act:

- Defines waste
- Outlines the roles and functions of the waste collection authorities, the disposal authorities and the Environment Agency
- Establishes criminal offences in relation to waste
- Defines and establishes the waste management licensing system
- Establishes criminal liability in relation to waste.

The Audit

We undertake a thorough review of your policies and processes in relation to waste, ensuring that they are effective and that you are compliant with the EPA.

The Report

We record the results of the audit in a full written report which identifies the procedures that do not comply and quantifies those that present the greatest risk. We then summarise the main conclusions.

We include a risk assessment so that you can prioritise hazardous areas. The digital photographs we take of selected non-compliant items mean that problems can be easily understood.

Data Presentation

Our reports specifically list each process and confirm its suitability. We comment on any specific problems, and identify potential risks and required remedial actions.

At mass, we work with our own software, specially designed for audit purposes.
